Jn Germany  PATCH

111th Engineers Teach Caution At Mine School They call it the "mustard pot," but th simple title hides one of the deadliest training aids at the mine school run b the 111th Engineer Battalion. Couple th "mustard pot" with a collection of shu S mines and every trip device in the hug German arsenal, and you will see why the school is considered one of the be equipped of its kind.
To walk down the rows of mines and charts and displays with the school's super visors, Lt. Lee Beahler, Jr., El Paso, Tex. and Lt. Arthur O'Connor, Jr., Brentwood N.H., and to hear them talk about the exhibits, makes one think that they are exhibits, makes one think that they are mine collectors discussing their hobby. But actually, mines are their business, and they are enthusiastic about mines in that rather morbid way of men who have handled them Germans can do with have seen what the box and a detonator, or with a complicated fourteen pound block of steel and wire and dynamite. They have put their school together primarily to teach caution, and not to museumize the deadly collection. To that end, they not only work with charts and diagrams, but also with the enemy mines which they have collected. various regiments and battalions with the Division, are taught the textbook material on mines, but afterwards they have to handle the mines and familiarize themselves with them.
"We have one of the most complete sets of enemy mine charts I've ever seen," said Lt. Beahler, "and our collection of mines includes working and cutaway models of every mine we have ever encountered." The first phase of the school's instruction includes daily talks by Sgt. James D.
White, Detroit, Mich., and Sgt. Jerrel White, Detroit, Mich., and Sgt. Jerrel Julian, Commerce, Tex., on the enemy's unilization of the different types of mines. They stress the fact that the Germans have different kinds of mines for every purpose, and that they use no two in the same way. In mountains, for example, the Germans will employ many smaller anti-personnel mines, but in flatlands they will use teller mines and ramp mines, which are primarily defensive weapons against tanks. The talks include descriptions of the patterns the enemy uses in mining areas and the manner in which he camouflages them.
Booby traps take up a good deal of time. The standard larger German mines. are all equipped for booby trapping, and the enemy booby traps his mined areas as well as houses and equipment and civilian material. The mine school material. The mine school has models of every type booby trap the Germans use, and Sergeants White and Julian devote a good portion of their time to explaining how the enemy rigs up his traps for the unwary-in everything from rifles to desk drawers to latrines.
The detonators used in mines are the most important feature, because to neutralize a mine, it must generally be defused (Con't On Page 3)

45th Commissions Former T-Patchmen

Lt. Col. Laurence C. Brown, Commanding the Forty-Fifth Division, has forwarded the following information to the Commanding General:
r., and Technical Sergeant Robert W. Kirby, , Tl , Technical Sergeant David D. CornDivision to this transferred from the 36th 1945. Teceived bettifield pon Juns, April 1945 for exemplary performance of duty and high initiative and leadership.
2. We appreciate the high caliber of men your Division."

1940 Wiesbaden

The Division Commander, Major General John E. Dahlquist, examines the plaque General Robert I. Stack, holds it.

For its lightning advance through France in 1940, the German 36 th Divisio warded a plaque which was placed in its garrison headquath Ames For its lightning advance through France, the American was presented with the same plaque, which has been forwarded to Governor Coke Stevenson of Texas or placement in the archives of the 36th Division Memorial. History almost repeated for plac itself.
The The plaque was originally presented by a grateful High Command to the German th Division for its battles at Verdun and the Forest of Choiseul in the blitzkrieg of rance.
Then four years later, the American 36 th blitzed its German counterpart. To the victor belongs the spoils. Believing that the American 36 th had proven its im, the 7th Army PWB presented the plaque to Maj. Gen. John E. Dahlquist, in turn donated it to Governor Stevenson.

141st Regimental Commander Commends F Company Patrol

by Pfc. Clarence Lasky

Showing exceptional ability and courage, members of a patrol made of men of the first platoon of Company F, 141 st Infantry Regiment, penetrated deeply into enemy territory on the night of February 13th, The object of the patrol was to gain information of enemy defenses and strength The patrol made its way through heavy brush and woods, and the men found it necessary in many places to work their way forward by creeping and crawling. In other flaces they weeping and crad. In othe places they waded through mud and water often hip deep. This progress was accomoften hip deep. This progress was accomplished in absolute silence, showing the skill of the men involved.
While deep in enemy territory barbedwire entanglements were encountered. In wire entanglements were encountered. In a daring attempt to outflank the barbed wire and to determine what lay behind it, the patrol started to work its way across an open area which was flooded with water. As the patrol moved across this area, one member stepped upon an enemy mine, member stepped upon an enemy mine, slightly wounding three. Again showing great courage and skill, the remaining members of the patrol quickly and silently applied first aid to the wounded men and began the tedious and dangerous task of carrying them to safety.
As these men were carrying their wounded buddies, they were fired upon. men. Then ed ther three wounded men. Then another member of the patro by small arms fire
(Con't on Page 4)

V Minus $]^{2}$

This huge cannon was left by the Germans on a railroad siding in the Division sector during their hasty retreat across the Rhine. The Road Through Bitschoffen

Night Attack Against Stronghold Penetrates Nazi Moder River Line
When the 36 th Division jumped off for Germany March 15 , there was one road which had to be opened at all costs. Along it two entire regimental combat teams were to move. And on that road, there was one strongly-fortified and garisisoned town which to move, And on that road there Bitschoffen, and King Company, of the 143rd Infantry had to be reduced. The town was Regiment was assigned the task of reducing the enemy positions there The attack began along the Moder River line at oloo, and six hours later King line at o100, and six hours liter King Company had overrun defensive positions companted to withstand a batation assault and onened the supply route for the ind | and |

| :---: |
| regiments. |
| opec | regiments. Company went into the assault without having made a preliminary reconnaissance at Bitschoffen. It had been impossible due to the nature of the terrain. possible due to the nature of the terrain

The co, however, had been given some idea of the nature of the enemy positions from 2 unit which had occupied nearby La Walck. He knew that deep minefields had been liad, and that the lanes of approach had been colvered by manhine gups firing from excellent positions. He knew that the enemy was very sensitive to to night patrols snd was certain to respond vigorously to any preparatory thrusts of of his attack over completely exposed terrain which ortered but heluter yo cealment. But ke knew

Pompous Ceremony

 Adds 56 Germans To 142nd PW Cage- Baker Company, 142 nnd Infantry entered Lenter of hered Dovily pillbbach, nexed slopeded in the com posing a part of the vaunted German Westwall.
Fighting had been extremely tough for mans, under the cover of the two Gerflag, under the cover of a large white floch 1st Lt. William Repke, Newark, N.J., he was reạdy for anything. As Lt. Repke stepped forward, he was handed an envelope addressed to the "Next Allied Officer." He read the letter and earned that an officer and 55 men wished or surrender at once. Fearing a trap, Lt. Repke assembled the 2nd Platoon and followed the two German scouts to a double-decked, company-sized pill-box. Whenecked, company-sized pils-box. When the lieutenant entered, the German commander called his men to attention man commander called his men to attention 55 men.
It proved an impressive ceremony, bu he long Germessive was the spectacle of the streets of Dorrenbach toward the PW cage.
though over a third of them were reinforcements going on their first attack, their ments going on their first attack, their morale was high and they could be counted on to fight.
There was no artillery barrage for the ing Company doughboys as they moved orward. It was a night attack and surprise was an important factor. At 0045 hours he Second Platoon moved out to attack the town from the left. At 0100 hours the irst Platoon moved out along the right of east. All during the night the from the been using flares. As the slopes leading rom the Moder River offered absolutely no concealment, the Germans almost immediately spotted the troops and opened fire with several machine guns. Apparently would hoped to bring answering fire that vould reveal the exact positions of our roops, but the doughfeet held their fir and the Germans did not call down any concentrations.
Then the Second Platoon ran into the first of the shu mines. There were castualties, but the explosions also gave away the platoon's position. The Germans immediately platoon's position. The Germans immediately responded with heavy mortar and artillery fire. The same thing happened to the First Platoon.
Said Staff Sergeant Frank Hazzard of the econd Platoon: "Although the terrai offered no concealment, we continued lowly forward until the machine gun, grenade, and rifle fire became so great w The attack we
The attackers were plainly visible to the enemy was so intense that they were forced to withdraw.
Four tanks were brought forward, the company reorganized, and a second attack was launched. With two tanks on either side of the road, the infantrymen tried to maneuver around the minefields. The tanks, but the enemy had minefiels ing the town from every conceivable coverAmidst exploding mines, fire from at least six enemy machine guns, mortar and artillery fire, the company was forced again to withdraw.
Casualties were heavier this time. The enemy knew exactly what Company K intended to do. Said Staff Sergeant Wil were umable to a lvance fuacoon: Wo passed through advace further. As we sand pit, four of our men had their feer blown off." organized for an attack.
The Third Platoon went into the zone held by the First, with three tanks attached, while the Second Platoon went forward again with two tanks. Four tanks got stuck. The Second Platoon ran into another minefield. Exploding mines and heavy fire made it impossible to move, but the doughfeet stubbornly stayed where the doughfeet stubbornly stayed where they were and returned the enemy fire. On the right, the Third Platoon with one tank made good progress, advancing up to and through one minefield and taking prisoners as they went. By 0600 this platoon had overrun the enemy defenses on its flank and entered the outskirts of on its flank and entered the outskirts of
(Con't On Page 4)

These MGs Snorted

Their machinegun set up in a barn, Pfc. and several of his 142 nd Infotry buddics waited for developments. Hearing someone open the barn door, Glover alerted the crew. on hands and knees toward the noise until he came face-to-face with two snorting, disgruntled hogs.

Goodbye, Ernie Pyle

Abstract

In saying goodbye to the infantryman's favorite war correspondent, Ernie Pyle, we reprint a column he wrote while with the 36th Division in Italy, December 1943.

"In this war I have known a lot of office who were loved and respected by the soldiers under them. But never have soldiers under them. But never have I crossed the trail of any man as beloved as crossed the trail T. Waskow, of Belton, Tex. Captain Waskow was a company commander in the 36th Division. He had led his company since long before it left the States. He was very young, only in his middle twenties, but he carried with him sincerity and a gentleness that mad pople want to be guided by him.
"After my fath
sergeant told me.
"He always looked after us," a soldier "I've never known him to do anything unfair," another said.
I was at the foot of the mule trail the night they brought Captain Waskow down. The moon was nearly full, and you could see far up the trail, and even partway see fars the valley below.
Dead men had been coming down the mountains all evening, lashed onto the backs of mules. They came lying bellydown across the wooden packsaddles, their heads hanging down on one side, their stiffened legs sticking out awkwardly from the other, bobbing up and down as the mules walked.
The Italian mule skinners were afraid to walk beside dead men, so Americans had to lead the mules down that night. Even the Americans were reluctant to unlash and lift off the bodies when they got to and lift off the bodies when they got to himself and ask the others to help. I don't know who that first one was You feel small in the presence of de and you don't ask silly questions.
They slid him down from the mule, and

Chaplain's Column

Some time ago, as I was arranging services for an army chapel, I was told thatI should put on a show. With all due I should put on a show. With all due respect to the individual's desire to see the respect to the individuals desire to see the chapel attendance increased, I could not share his idea of patronizing the sensanal Master would have us go about our work not in a flashy manner, calling undue attention to ourselves, but sincercly endeavoring to live and preach the gospel of but Christ has said, "Where two or three are gathered together in my name, there am 1 in the midst of them.

The Christianity that counts is clear-cut. The individual devoted to it has a definite experience of Christ in his heart. He knows and $\sin$, he has been born again. It is one of the great experiences which he will never forget. The demarkation line is very plain.
The decision has been made, once and for all. He has settled it to go through with God, whatever the cost.
Again the Christianity that counts is constant. There is scarcely any virtue deserving higher appraisal than that of faithfulness. An individual that starts out with God should set his face like a flint toward the one objective of doing His will. If he does this, he will not swerve will. If he does this, he will not swerve from the beaten path of duty. He may be slighted. He may be completely ignored beaten path of duty. He may Still he can be counted on through it all His behavior is not determined by weather conditions, changing environment nor any conditions, changing environment nor any other thing. The Spirit of Christ, working within him stabilizes him so that he can be counted on.
Christianity that counts is consecrated. The Hebrews freed their servants every seventh year. Occasionally a servant who loved his master would insist on becoming a lifelong slave. This was done by piercing his ear through with an awl From thenceforth and forever, he was a part of that household. Because a Christian loves the Master, he gives himself unreservedly and forever. No love is more reservedly and forever. No love is more dynamic to his life than the love of Christ.
Again, Christianity that counts is commendable. "Well done, thou good and faithful servant"-this is the greatest goal of life.

WILLIAM T. ARMSTRONG Chaplain, 143rd Infantry.

Inquiring Photographer

proper authorites.

Patient Deserts  Litter, Medics  Litter Medics

Sgt. William G. Hutchinson, Minneapolis, Minn,, and his squad of medics were busy when a hail of screaming meemies came in on them.

Before we could set the patient down and take cover," recalled Pfe. Murray Weinstein, Brooklyn, N.Y., the guy jumped from the litter and took off," "We all hit the dirt after that," added Private Ray Hines, Argyle, Kansas. When Private Ray Hines, Argyle, Kansas. When the barrage subsided, the litter bearer the barrage subsided, the litter looked for their patient, but as Cpl. Syl looked for their patient, but as Cpl. Syl vester Gonzales, San Gabriel, Cal., put it "He'd vanished.
"It beat anything I'd ever seen," said Hutchinson. t. Hutchinson.

THE G-3 SECTION

Tactics And Training From Africa To The Rhineland

One of the more imporant ganglian in the nervous center of a division engazed in combat operations is the $\mathrm{G}-3$ section and tactics along such lines as indicated by the CG | When the 36th landed at Oran more | $\begin{array}{c}\text { Shortly the division was spearheading }\end{array}$ |

| :---: | :---: |
| than two years ago to begin overseas train- |  | \(\begin{aligned} & ith divergent branches and task forces

& the\end{aligned}\) ing, the section was headed by Lt. Col.
Joseph B. McShane. August, 1943 proved shoting out to either side, racing against time to out the retreating German 19th feverish month for G-3 personnel as the Army in the Rhone Valley. It took to a feverish month for G-3 personnel as the division's role in the Salerno invasion in the Rhone Valley. It took too long to make the cumbersome field order, $\begin{array}{lll}\text { gradually blossomed into fruition. Detailed } & \text { so the short Operations Instruction was } \\ \text { go } \\ \text { planning included all the minutia of ship- } & \text { invoked permanently. At Montelimar the }\end{array}$

p ping space, order of the attacking waves phase lines, and in general, who went where and at what time. ent where and at what time.
On D-Day, G-3 set up in warehouse with the minimum of equipment carried ashore by pack. For the first time the tremendous presur tion was realized.
Month followed month, plan followed plan, always it was necessary for the G-3, now headed by Lt. Col. Fred W. Walker, Jr., to have the next operation mapped out the possibilities inherent in the situation and terrain foreseen and welded and terrain foreseen and welded into coherent plan in conjunction with coherent plan in conjunction planning of higher headquarters
Through the corridor of Purple Heart Valley to the bastions of Monte Cassino overlays. At Cervaro, neighboring the famed abbey, Lt. Col. Fred A. Sladen became the 36th Division G-3.
When the division was withdrawn to Southern Italy for several months, the G-3 section planned for new fields to conquer. Then came a short stay on the Anzio beachhead and the breakthrough at Velletri. From Rome to Campigliano G-3 letri. From Rome to Campigliano G-3 planned the way within scope of its orders. As the 36 th trained near the quiet
As beaches of Gaetna and Paestum, G-3 set up hop with a divided section once more to work on a giant integrated master plan, the invasion of Southern France.
eventful cruise, G-3 officers and an uneventrul cruise, G-3 officers and enlisted beachhead was firmly secured within. The and existing plans had to be hastily scrapped and new ones substituted.

Corporal Pipes  German Organ

Before sweet music flowed from a little the church in a frontline town, no one hat Cpl. Joseph Artillery Batta, Brooklyn N. Y., could play a pipe organ.
As the artillerymen entered the church As the artillerymen entered the church, playing some of the American hymns they Alorched on a stool, hadn't heard since they left the States.
larger part of the German 19th Army was destroyed by the 36th Division.
After months of furious fighting against savage resistance, the 36th Division pushed many.
For a period Lt. Col. Charles J. Denholm served as Division G-3. Upon assuming e was succeeded by hentry Regiment, Ross Young, with Capt. Fred A. Stallings
|||||||||||||||||||||||||||||||||||||||||||||||||||||||||||||

FROM THE  OTHER PATCHES

|||1|||||||||||||||||||||||||||||||||||||||||||||||||||||||||||||||||||||

 5th DIVISION NEWS: "Sgt. John Freebrought in the biggest prisoner on the division blotter. He was a German captain, seven-feet, two-inches tall, and was nabbed by the 180th Infantry." GRAPEVINE, 26th INFANTRY DIVISION: It can now be revealed that the Yankee Division' had the distinction of being one of the two divisions selected to test showed: A. The results of the test a definite success. B. The men would rather be testing blue pin-stripes for HE THE MULE, 75th INFANTRY DIVISION: grandsons were received the same day by Maj. Gen. Ray E. Porter and Brig. by Maj. Gen. Ray E. Porter and Brig.Gen. Gerald St. Claire Mickle, Division Gen. Gerald St. Claire Mickle, Division Commander, and Assistant Division Commander, respectively."
THE FRONT LINE, THIRD INFANTRY DIVISION: "A German woman stopped the doughs of Item Company, 15 th Anyone the other day by bellowing. CENTURY SENTINEI Omaha?
DIVISION: "TNEL, 100th INFANTRY DIVISION: "The distinction of being Franco-Genturyman to step across the Franco-German border went to Capt pany Commander, 399th Infantry.

Overpass Bypassed

A group of 111th Engineers examine the wreckage of the bridg constructing a bypass on the road leading north from Kaiserslautern.

142nd Infantry Holds First Award Ceremony In Germany

A Shave Has High Frankenstein, Germany, Lacks Priority OverHun Only Hollywood's Monster
Maybe Pfc. C. A. McMillan, Lubbock
Tex., has been overseas too long, but anyTex., has been overseas too long, but any way, it seems that a shave is more impor ant to him than capturing Germans. Pulling his jeep into a town that had been occupied some two hours earlier by the infantry, the hatched-faced Texan went to a pump in front of the barn to wash up and shave. He was on the delicate upper up to him and with excited gestures made him understand that several Krauts were hiding in the barn.
Mac, an unarmed Medic, waved the man away with his razor und went on with away with his razor und went on with his shaving. his shaving.
Shortly thereafter the old man returned with two armed Gls who entered the barn and came out with three Krauts. As they herded the prisoness past Mac, he didn't even look up. He went right on and even look up.
finished his shave.
Homefolks Curious, Confirms Sergeant "When will the war be over?" was the question most frequently asked of Sg t.
 Field Artilleryman, during his 30-day furlough in the United States.
"Were you afraid?", "What time do you eat and sleep?". "Do you live in barracks $?^{\text {a }}$ commonly asked.
On the way home Sgt. Rogers traveled from Southern France to Naples to Oran the voyage that had brought him to France. The journey to the States took nine days. Back in New York, the sergeant was immediately sent to Camp Shank, New immediately sent to Camp Shanks, New York Traveling on a Pullman, with other Texas-bound boys, Rogers headed for Fort outfitted and payed.
"When I reached my home town, I felt lost," he explained. "The town hadn't changed very much. Food and entertain changed very much. Food and entertainment-were plentiful-and the people were ment-were plentiful-and the people were wonderful. But all my buddies had gone to war.
Reporting back for duty, Sgt. Rogers was ent to Fort Dupont, Delaware. There anhome four more days.
Returning by way of England, St. Rogers stepped into the orderly room of his battery exactly five months after he had

Kirby Captures 20
Radioman, Pfe. Clarence Kirby of Knoxville, Tenn., 142 nd Infantry, was folwhen he was halted by a Jerry who asked where the Americans were.
"They're all over," replied Kirby. The German shouted to his comrades nearby pillbox. "It's safe now," he yelled.
Twenty more Germans w Able Company's PW count.
The Immortal Pfc
By Pretsch, 141st

The ruined castle on the rocky crag broods over that narrow church and the small village which wanders through the valley below. The castle is old, so old that it seems part of the rocks and turf from which it springs, and the trees and moss that grow

Observers Score
Two Bulls-Eyes
Cub observer, 1st Lt. Anthony T. Redden, Ambridge, Pa, and 1st Lr. Robert B. Mohney, Topeka, Kansas, pilot, flying for the scored two bulls-eyes with the same artillery barrage.
Soaring over enemy lines, Lt. Redden spotted a tank below. He called in his fire mission, observed where the shell landed, made adjustments and then called for the battery to fire for effect Just as the battalion fire direction center radioed him that the rounds were on the way, Lt. Mohney called artention to an road toward the tank.
It was too late to make corrections so as to include both the tank and truck, 50 both men hoped the truck would come within range of the already directed artillery barrage.
That's exact
That's exactly what happened. When the smoke and dust cleared, the two enemy vehicles had been knocked
Why We Fight

Thomas G. Hocker, $\mathrm{Jr}_{\mathrm{r}}$, is the fourtee month old son of T/Sgt. Thomas G. Hocker, 36th Signal Company, and Mrs. Callie Hocker, Denison, Texas,

Judge Hardy's GI Andy

Puckish Mickey Rooney autographs fo
Private Mickey Rooney, celebrated screen star, and Hollywood's own "Andy Hardy" tocent of the western front.
Arriving in the area with two "jeep show" units. Mickey hopped up on the back of a $211 / 2$-ton truck and began the show by telling the boys of his travels as a GI. Rooney was in form. To many of the T-Patchers he seemed more squirrely and even shorter in stature than he bad and even shorter in stature than appeared in movies they had seen. appeared in movies they had see

143rd Officer Captured At Drusenheim,

Escapes From Main River Camp

Infantry attacked the Alsatian to 143 ro Drusenheim, 1st Lt. Lloyd R. Williams, Huntsville, Tex., came back through enemy ines on the morning of April 5 th. Lt. Williams had been captured by the Germans and quickly taken to Germans and quickly taken to a large the Main River north of Nuremberg. There he spent four hungry and miserable weeks living on German black bread ( 8 men to loaf per day) and thin potato soup. broke through to liberate the camp force ver, the main Allied force was far behind and the task force was forced to pull out, taking only a few of the freed men back. The others formed into small groups and made their way back as best they Lt. Williams and his group worked their

Chevrons Inverted, Ticket Punched

It can now be revealed that Sgt. Howard V. Nelson, Kilgore, Tex., doesn't aspire to be a seamstress and that $\mathrm{S} / \mathrm{Sgt}$. Roland T . Venable, Brownwood, Tex., doesn't aspire to be a chaplain, but recently they had to be a chaplain, but recently they had everyone in the 133rd Field Artillery Bateveryone in th Since Sgt. Nelson was promoted after the battalion had entered Germany, he couldn't ask a civilian to sew on his he sewed for thirty minutes while talking to Sgt. Venable. As he smoothed out the shirt to have a look at the secured chevrons, he- realized he had sewn them on upside-down.
Sgt. Nelson held the ticket; Sgt. Venable punched it. punched it.
way westward, reached another bend in the Main River and reconnoitered the area for a safe crossing. On the third night, they ran into a German road block and all but Lt. Williams were recaptured. and all but Lt. Williams were recaptured. The following night while Lt. Williams was removing his clothing, prior to swimming across the river, ming across the river, a German sentry approached. The Texas officer, quickly approached. The Texas officer, quickly ran behind a bush and when the lone ran behind a bush and when the lone Williams clubbed him over the head knocking him out.
Picking up his clothes, he placed them on an improvised float of branches and swam to the other side, pushing the raft before him. From there on in, he subsisted chiefly on potatoes which he had stuffed in his pockets. He allowed himWith the sun and artille he walked until exhausted, located guides, shelter and went to sleep. A short time later he was picked up by Seventh Army units fighting in the Wurzburg area. 3 $\underset{\substack{\text { Bitschoffen } \\ \text { (cert trem } 2 \text { zapo } \\ 1}}{ }$

Bitschoffen.

The enemy troops in the village were house to house, the Third Platoon reduced the last German positions and advanced to the main street. They shifted to flank the enemy position, knocked out the machine gun and captured two heavy mortars and their crews, even while they were firing at the Second Platoon. They went on to capture a company command post, then slammed into the rear of the Germans fighting the Second Platoon.
Before 0700 the town was secure. Sixty six prisoners were taken. The supply rout was opened.

133rd Introduces

 New 36th March duced by 1st Lt. Paul Dixon, Morristown, N. J., the 133rd Field Artillery's recent talent show moved at a fast clip with good talent show moved at ags.
music, dancing and gags.
"The extravaganza introduced a new 36th Division Marching Song, words and music by Pfc. Louis De Piro, New York City.

From the sands of Salerno to the bank of the Rhine,
Ever forward we're pushing, staying right on the line,
When you go where the fighting is thick,
You will find, the Thirty-Sixth You will find, the Thirty-Sixth, Fighting shoulder to shoulder Fighting shoulder to shoulder we will go down in fame,
Every soldier a hero,
name.
Yes, we'll fight till we're marching right through Berlin, Carry on Thirty-Sixth and we'll win. Those participating in the show were /Sgt. Charles Howser. Frankfort. Ky. M/Sgt. Charles Howser, Frankfort, Ky. /Sgt. John Speakman, Minneapolis, Minn; Cpl. James Allen, Summerville, Mass.; Cpl
Bill Lehmberg, Bridgeport, Tex.; Cpl. Gil Bill Lehmberg, Bridgeport, Tex.; Cpl. Gil bert Black Tedders, Ky.; Pfc. E. Martinez
Pfc. Frank Lee, Dallas, Tex.; Pfc. Paul Barnett, Weatherford, Tex.; Pfc. Frank Barnett, Weatherford, Tex.; PAc. Frank Sconza, Sayville, N, Y.; Pfc. Arthur E.
Chapdelaine, Northboro, Mass., and Pfc. Bernard Littman, Clearfield, Pa

I & E Offers  New Courses

Soldiert Do you plan to return to high school or college; orerate a busihigh school or college; operate a business or enter a trade? Then investigate ness or enter a trade? Then investigate the possibilities of studying through Correspondence or Self-teaching Courses. You can learn anything from motor mechanics, mathematics, operation of a business, to the management of a farm business, to the management of a farm.
There is a wide choice among the selfThere is a wide teaching courses
See your Information & Education Officer, or your Special Service Officer for full details cation blanks.

German civilians examine a news map ocated in an occupied German town in the 36th Division sector. Not only does the map keep the battlefronts charted, but posted alongside it is a transcription of the BBC news in German.

Hey, There!

Her heart belongs to Daddy, but she's all for the 36th. Texas' own Mary Martin pitches in between trips to Hollywood and Broadway, to bring the boys back to Weatherford.

Ernie Pyle  (cort't From Page 2)

One soldier came and looked down, and he said out loud, "God damn it1"
That's all he said, and then he walked Another one came, and he said, "God damn it to hell anyway!" He looked down for a few last moments and then turned nd left.
Another man came. I think he was an officer. It was hard to tell officers from men in the dim light, for everybody was bearded and grimy. The man looked down bearded and grimy. The man looked down into the dead captain's face and then spoke directly to him, as though he were alive, directly to him, as though he were alive, "I'm sorry, old man."
Then a soldier came and stood beside the officer and bent over, and he too spoke to his dead captain, not in a whisper but awfully tenderly, and he said, "I sure Then the first man squatted down, and he reached down and took the dead captain's hand, and he sat there for a full five minutes holding the dead hand in his own and looking intently into the dead face. And he never uttered a sound all the time Finally there.
Finally, he put the hand down. He reached over and gently straightened the reached over and gently straightened the points of the captain's shirt collar, and the points of the captains shirt collar, and then he sort of rearranged the tattered edges of he sort of rearranged the tattered edges of he uniform around the wound, and then got up and walked away down the roa the moonlight, all alone.
The rest of us went back into the cow line end to end in the shadow of the low stone wall. We lay down on the straw in the cowshed, and pretty soon we were all asleep."

Postal Note -

Division personnel confined to a hospita for fifteen or more days should drop change of address.

141st Patrol
(cont trom Page i) way was clear, they continued on their dangerous journey until they reached the dangerous journey until they safety of their own positions.

The commendation read:
II wish to commend you, the patro eader, and the members of the patrol, which staged a patrol on the night of 13-14 February 1945. The performance of inditrol, under very trying conditions, is indicative of the outstanding leadership, qualities of the members of the palrol carrying through the mission assigned it which was to capture prisoners or determine the location of enemy positions, the patrol ccomplished the latter. It turned in de ensive information on enemy defenses in the area covered. It determined the presence mines and wire in area that had no therto, been covered.
The aggressive, tenacious manner in which this patrol carried through its miszation. It was work, well done" organi-

Col. Charles H. Owens
1st Regimental Commande
The following men participated in the patrol: 2nd Lt. William C. Chaddock, Benon Harbor, Mich., patrol leader; T/Sgt. ohn E. Elrod, Hartwell, Ga.; S/Sgt. Rudolph Galko, Milwaukee, Wis.; Sgt. Sidney
H. Gross, Bronx, N.Y., Sgt. Charles Rush, . Gross, Bronx, N.Y., Sgt. Charles Rush, ewell, N.J.; Pfc. Earl Callender, Mechanicville, N.Y.; Pfc. Thomas E. Carey, Jersey Pa.; Pfc. William Denham Etow, Pa.; Pfc. Rudolph Denham, Etowah, Tenn.; Pfc. Rudolph P. Kohler, Garfield, N.J.; Pfc. Russel Mangold, Cincinnati, Ohio; Sgt.
James E. McClung, Clarksburgh, W Va Pfe. Raloh F McCorkle, Guide Rock. Ne Pfc. Ralph E. McCorkle, Guide Rock, Neb.;
Pfc. Everett J. McRoy, Dexter, Mo. Pfe. Pfc. Everett J. McRoy, Dexter, Mo.; Pfc.
Robert Skiles, Grand Saline Tex; Joseph Ursia, Westfield, Mass.; Pfc. Joseph P. Ziomek, Derby, Conn.; Pvt. Joe P. Smith Lubbock, Tex.; Pvt. Jerome S. Weiss, Nash ville, Tenn.

Male Call

BEA-VER!

Male Call

Milton
Caniff
by Milton Caniff, creator of "Terry and the Pirates" ${ }^{6}$

Once Over Slightly

